

Employment-population ratios, selected countries, 2007 and 2010

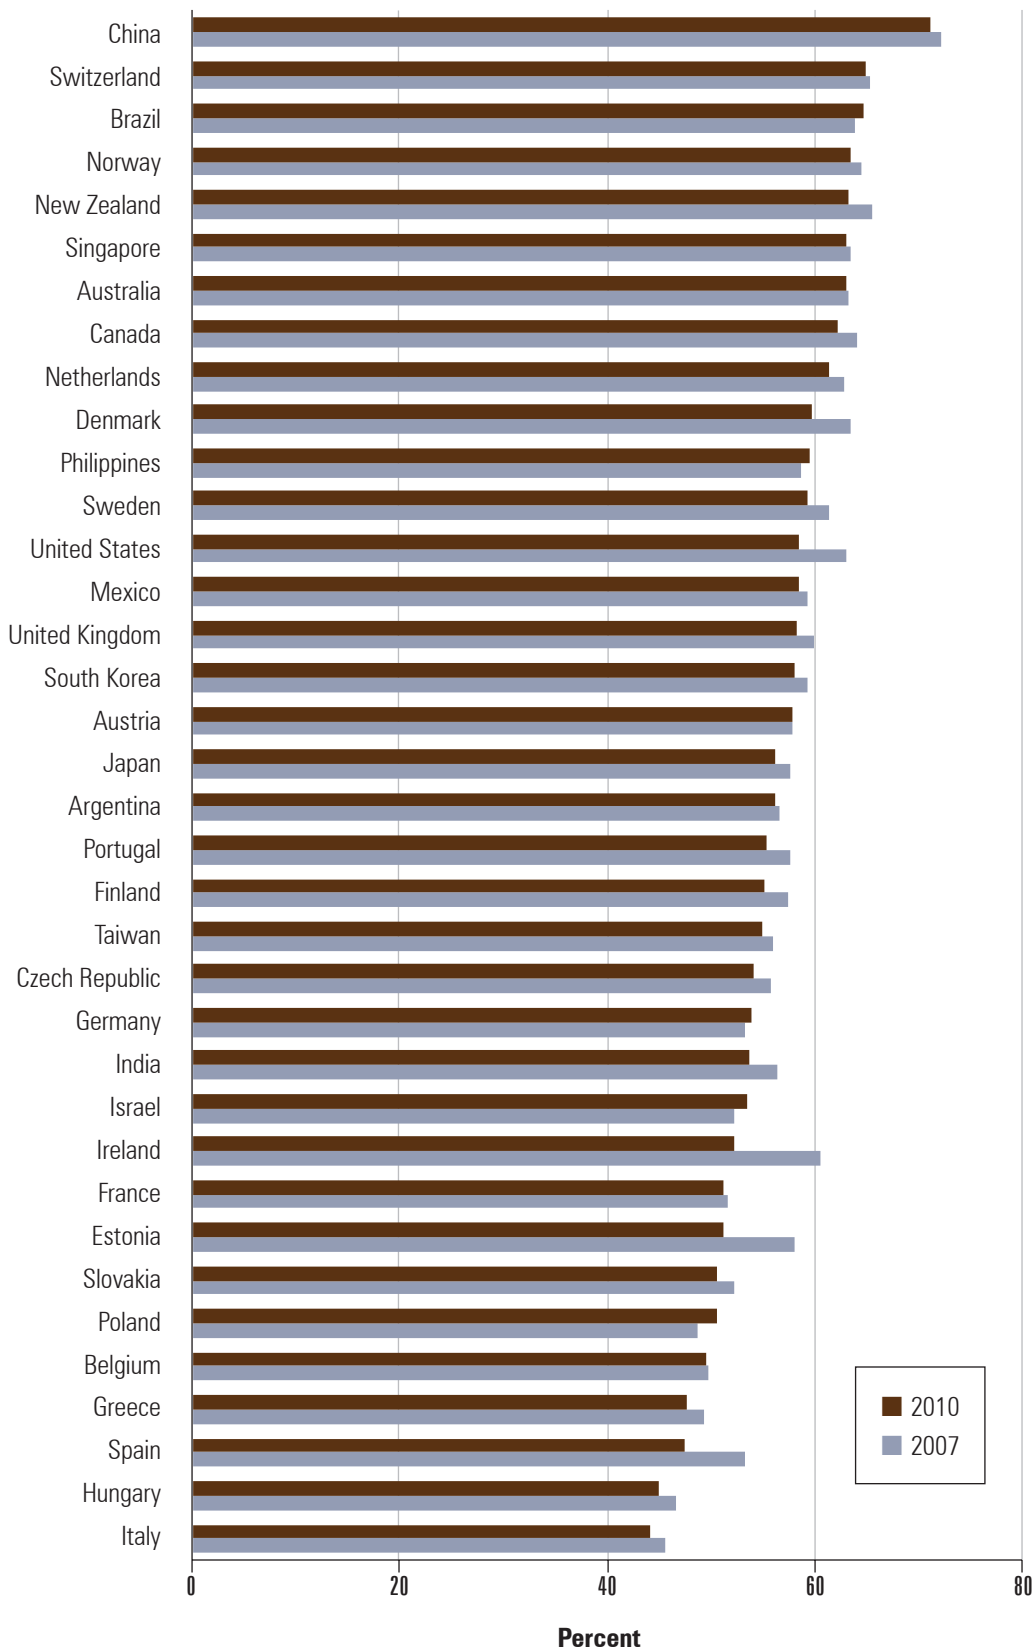

CHART 2.5

In 2010, China and Switzerland had the highest proportions of employed persons, while Italy and Hungary had the lowest.

- Employment-population ratios decreased between 2007 and 2010 in 30 out of 36 selected countries, with the steepest declines in Ireland, Estonia, Spain, and the United States.

SOURCES: U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics and International Labour Office.